

Safe Space:

An LGBTQ Process Group

The Seattle Therapy Alliance is offering a 10 week women-identified therapy group to process our experiences as LGBTQ folks in this new political climate. We will work together to create a safe space and offer each other encouragement, support, understanding, and community.

The group will meet at 7p.m. every Tuesday night at the Seattle Therapy Alliance
200 1st Ave W #400, Seattle, WA 98119

The cost is $25/person per week

Maximum group size: 6

Couples and individuals are welcome.

First meeting will be Tuesday, March 14, 2017

\*Leading the group: Kimball Hobbs is a Seattle University Graduate student and STA Intern who is working toward Licensure as a Marriage and Family Therapist. She identifies as white, female, cisgender, and Lesbian/Queer. Her clients are mostly people from the LGBTQ community who represent various racial, gender, socioeconomic and spiritual/religious intersectionalities. Kimball sees a need for creating a space to talk about the fears the LGBTQ community is currently experiencing and to find ways to create connection and safety in the midst of uncertainties, extreme vulnerability, and sometimes danger. For more information, please contact: kimball@seattletherapyalliance.com*